50 Themes Can Be Entered In $675 Contest

Last May the Director of the School of Mines announced a contest for the best theme on the history of the Meramec Springs Iron Company. This historic iron foundry was located six miles south of St. James previous to the Civil War.

The reason for this contest is the desire to secure a complete history of the Meramec Springs Iron Company that it might be assembled into printed form. The late Mrs. Lucy James, who owned the property, was not able to do this during her lifetime and now the executors of her estate wish to do so.

To this end, the executors are financing a theme contest dealing with the Meramec Springs property. This contest is limited to Junior and Senior students of the Missouri School of Mines. Not more than fifty themes will be accepted. The prizes offered will be as follows:

First prize, $300.00; Second prize, $200.00; Third prize $100.00; Fourth prize $50.00; and Fifth prize $25.00.

Any themes submitted will be the property of the executors of the estate and their decision as to the prizes will be final.

Out of the material submitted, the executors plan to summarize some of the salient facts concerning the history of the Meramec Iron Company. They will have a tablet cast out of old Meramec Iron and affixed to the masonry of the great chimney whose remains still stand on the property.

Faculty Members And Alumni At Alpha Chi Sigma Banquet

The St. Louis Professional chapter of Alpha Chi Sigma were hosts to faculty members and students at a banquet and meeting held at 7 p. m. Friday evening at the Washington Restaurant in St. Louis. The representatives of the local Beta Delta chapter were Dr. W. T. Schrenk, Dr. T. G. Day, John S. Harris, F. E. Johnson, and G. R. Shockley.

An invitation was extended to and was accepted by the St. Louis group to attend the annual Jamboree to be held this year at Rolla Oct. 19.

The roster of the meeting showed a definite predominance of Beta Delta men; among those present were Carl Zvanut, Charles Koch, '41, Walter K. Dean, '41, S. B. Herling and W. L. Henson.

Son Born to Prof. And Mrs. Rex Williams

Prof. and Mrs. Rex Z. Williams announce the birth of a son, John Zadok, on Friday, Sept. 19, at the St. Louis Maternity Hospital. The baby weighed 8 lbs., 2 ozs. Professor Williams is head of the Mechanics department at the School of Mines.

In The Mail

Nazism Exists In Our Own Institution

Startling isn't it, that we have such a dreaded bureaucracy right here at home. Consoling, however, that it does not have its power in the upper regions of our college. But no matter where such a reigning power exists—it must be wiped out. The fight by the many nations of the world to suppress such an evil is evidence that we are ready to sacrifice our lives to live the way we want to and to say that we want to. By this time, you are wondering at what party this letter is directed. I am referring to the Rollamo Board that exists on this campus. Most of you are informed as to the activities of the Board, but few, I believe, have investigated the government of same. It is not the intention to lay the blame on the present officers, as it is due to the constitution set up which was framed by those in years gone by.

Let us look into the constitution which is designed to produce a two-man team.

"Staff. The staff shall consist of the Editor, the Business Manager, Advertising Manager, Organization Manager, Athletic Manager, Art and Humor Manager, and Photographer. They shall constitute the officials and shall receive whatever compensation the board of Trustees shall grant for their services. All officers (except the editor and business manager) shall be appointed by the editor and approved by the business manager from those who are members of the Rollamo Board."

"Three weeks before the close of school in the spring the Staff shall elect to membership to the board those who have successfully tried out during that year, and the editor and business manager for the ensuing year's publication."

From the above, one can see that the constitution provides for a "closed shop system." In the history of the Rollamo Board, we find the Rollamo management has been a hand-me-down existence.

Let us refer to another statement of the constitution—a tender word for such an exorbitant piece of paper—"whatever compensation the Board of Trustees shall grant for their services." Last year, the Rollamo staff split $840 from the profits of the year. The editor received 30% of this, which amounted to $250. Nice position—IF you can get it.

Take the case of Joe Miner, a Junior on the campus. He paid $3.50 for his copy of the Rollamo. Then he had an individual picture taken with a couple of cuts for fraternal societies. Cost $1.50. He was a member of the A. I. M. E., which had a group picture; the Independents; and the Shamrock Club. Say these cost him approximately a dollar. That brings the total cost of his year book up to about $6.00. That should give him a pretty good book.

What should be done about it? Let's reduce the price of group pictures from the present $20, which will in turn reduce the salary of the staff. Secondly, let the present system of dictatorship in

Detonators And Band Will Go To St. Louis U. Game

The first platoon of the Detonators crack military drill company, and the Missouri School of Mines R.O.T.C. Band will participate in the flag raising ceremony before the starting gun of the Miner-St. Louis U. football game Friday night. The Detonator Platoon will also drill between the halves.

The Detonators were enlarged to company strength last year and were favorably commended at the annual inspection.

The Band will have as its guest musician Miss Ann Estelle Scott of Downers Grove, Illinois, who will play the Bell Lyre. Miss Scott, a grand-daughter of John W. Scott who is musical director of the band, played with a 190 piece band on Soldiers' Field in Chicago at the recent All-American football game.

Students And Band Parade To Game Saturday

Much enthusiasm was shown by the student body in a parade Saturday which preceded the slaughter of Arkansas State by the Miners. The R.O.T.C. Band led the parade from Jacking Gym to down-town Rolla. The Detonators, making their first appearance of the year, followed the band. The gold and black buggy of the Sigma Nu Fraternity drawn by freshmen led the long chain of snake-dancers representing the worthless class of "45". Their approach was heralded by the melancholy notes of a civil war bugle which did more toward enlivening the co-eds' modern mode of transportation, a "Missouri Mule," than it did to encourage the spirited freshmen, who displayed unusual pep in a brief rally at Eighth and Pine streets.

PALLMERADE

Coming Here From Reno, Hollywood and New York

Hidden security inside the last issue of the MINER was the smallest possible notice of the greatest attraction of the year. Since no one seemed the least bit interested, there is no need to go further into the subject of the Pallmerade. But you can be sure that it isn't a tropical flower show, or an East Coast Rodeo or any of the numerous things that a few of the boys have suggested. As a matter of fact, the Pallmerade was conceived less than a year ago. Last summer, in wide-open Reno, it was "sneaked-previewed" and was so successful that it immediately became the fad among Hollywood's Cafe society. Naturally, the New York 400 frowned on this new "uncouth intruder," but when their blue blood had turned to a deep wine, the Pallmerade held a primitive attraction. Soon, we hope, the Miners will see their Pallmerade, but it must be soon, for the Pallmerade lends itself most readily to warm weather. Keep watching the MINER.

St. Louis U. Coaches Express Confidence

St. Louis U. Press Release
St. Louis, Mo.—(Special)—How strong is the 1941 edition of the St. Louis University football team?

After viewing the first extended scrimmage of the season, Backfield Coach Bob Klenck, who is subbing as front man for Head Coach Duford, and Line Coach Don Geyer were unanimous in expressing optimism for the coming season.

The Chief cause of their optimism has been the performances of the two "Raiding Richards," Dick Weber and Dick Pfuhl, who are expected to form a touchdown combination at left and right halfback respectively.

Weber, the marksman of the combination, went the entire route in several games last fall, handling all the passing and kicking. The 200-pound plus Pfuhl, a top-notch receiver, is capable of ploughing deep holes in opposing lines and can punt farther than any member of the squad.

Aiding and abetting this combination in the backfield are Walter Rafalko, slated to open his third season as starting quarterback, and Joe Glover, 185-pound sophomore ram, at fullback. In reserve are Frank Brown, nifty sophomore triple-threat; John Waller erstwhile guard, who has been running like a rabbit and driving like a pile driver at right halfback; Ed Jones, brainy sophomore quarterback who passes with the accuracy of a rifle, and Bob Engelbreit, hefty soph fullback,

Large Attendance of MSM Students Expected

By S. ORLOFSKY
Heralding the approach of one of the outstanding athletic events of the football season, the Student Council will stage a pep rally on the upper athletic field Thursday evening.

In anticipation of a big weekend, the Miners who expect to attend the night game between M. S. M. and St. Louis University, to be held beneath the lights of Walsh Stadium in St. Louis, are getting tickets at reduced rates for the trip to St. Louis, and also for the game at the stadium. The football squad and student body will occupy special cars on the General Wood, scheduled to leave Friday afternoon at 1:22 p. m. The squad will be quartered at the Kingsway Hotel, from which they will proceed via a special bus to the stadium.

This game is destined to be the hardest fought one of the season, considering that last year's game between these two schools ended in a tie of nothing to nothing, St. Louis U., as well as our own school, will undoubtedly put forth its best efforts to win this one. In spite of Coach Bullman's pessimistic observation that "we ain't got nothing" the team is out to win. With a strong front line and a fast back field, what's going to stop them?

The team will have the backing of a large portion of the student body at the stadium.

John VanOs Made President Of Science Academy

The Academy of Science held its first meeting Monday, September 22 in Norwood Hall for the purpose of electing officers. John Van Os was elected president for the new term. Others elected were Joe Salvo vice-president; Ted Bartling, secretary, and Tom Baugher, treasurer.

The Academy of Science is the only organization of its kind at Rolla. Its membership is almost entirely restricted to freshmen. The purpose of the Academy is to furnish the freshmen with an organization something like the engineering fraternities which upper-classmen belong to. The next meeting will be an outing Thursday, October 2. All freshmen are invited.

Train Tickets To St. Louis Game On Sale

Round trip tickets to St. Louis for the Miner-Billiken game Sept. 26 are now on sale in Parker Hall. The tickets will cost $2.30 round-trip for the pilgrimage to the smoky city. The train leaves at 1:22 Friday afternoon and will arrive at 4:15 p. m. in St. Louis. The return tickets are good for the Sunday trains at 1:55, 6:30 or 11:57 p. m.

As a MINER Sees it

This opening burp will probably be stricken from the records long before this column hits the press. Still, we can't stop trying to inform the mizzable miners that lil' ole Zanzie boy got that beef steak eye from a freshman. Hardly the proper respect to show an upperclassman. Does that sound better, Chuck, or will you blue-pencil it and let me try again next week.

We owe our apologies to the entire student body. Bradshaw-of-the-shaven cheek was not shorn of his masculinity by his father. That gross prevarication was printed by us last week as quoted by George himself. But the real reason is . . . Catherine in St. Louis, and Helen in Rolla. You see, fellas, Prez likes and they like Prez, but they both agree that George shall not have a beard. After seeing them both can't say that I wouldn't do the same. That wolf instinct again.

Our senior war-student, John, the Wittig, Rayl, has also got a mustache. Of course you can't see it, but in two more years and with a bit of eyebrow pencil, his panzer division fledglings will be able to respect that bit of fuzz.

The lowest act of injustice that one frat brother can play upon another is . . . "wolfing." Theta Tau Raymond Kasten took that little faculty member from Stephens that Charlie Morris invited down for a quote, "coke, and then a little walk on the campus," unquote, "Nuff said. If that was all, however, why was Morris so downcast as to remove his shoes and wander morbidly through the streets of Rolla.

Most interesting bit of ceremony takes place each morning at nine o'clock. Cap Kromka and Exec. Off. Krueger of the Miner First Team approach the Registrar's Office with beaming faces. Then, leaning around the corner of the door they exhale a satisfied sigh, and stroll merrily off to class. Watch 'em tomorrow a. m. and see what we mean. Sorry, fellas, didn't mean to break up your playhouse . . . we like 'em, too.

The Kappa Sig-Sigma Nu Feud is rapidly expanding in all directions. The quote "thieving kappa sigs" unquote, steal everything that looks like it belongs to SIG-MA NU. From wagon wheels to seniors whiskers. Brackett, the upper and lower case letters cost Brackett three bottles. For the same amount you can retaliate through this column next week.

William Hill, the Illini former, is passing out seagars, fellas. Good ones, too. Congratulations, Willem.

Glad to welcome Jack Emory, Cecil Edgar Jennings, Kenny Hardine and their bottles back to the Little St. Pat's at the Pennant satnite. They didn't like the fifteen-cent beer either. A couple of steaming ones to the Board for the success of their little affair on the twentieth. veddy, veddy veddy fine pahdy, boys.

The Willard sisters are the first to make our honor roll. This will be a regular weekly feature until the freshman co-eds comply with the rules of the Student Council. Don't remember whether it's Mary or Sally that objects being asked for matches. And, incidentally, the other one's married. Both gals refused to remove their caps during the freshman locomotive at the game. Come on gals, Gibson and lil' Jeannie weren't that way.

GREATEST COLLEGE ATHLETE - JIM THORPE

OF ALL THE IMMORTALS COLLEGES HAVE PRODUCED SINCE THE TURN OF THE CENTURY, ONE, AN INDIAN, STANDS HEAD AND SHOULDERS ABOVE THE REST. THORPE ENTERED CARLISLE INDIAN SCHOOL IN 1906 AND SOON BECAME THE TERROR OF EASTERN GRIDIRONS. HE WAS AN ALL-AMERICAN HALFBACK IN 1911 AND 1912. FROM FOOTBALL, JIM TURNED TO TRACK AND WON THE PENTATHLON AND DECATHLON IN THE 1912 OLYMPICS. HE WAS ALSO A STAR IN BASEBALL, BREAKING INTO THE MAJOR LEAGUE WITH THE NEW YORK GIANTS.

Bob: Why, what in the world for? You're perfect all over.

phone number) is mighty sweet-looking. Must be, for she's the cause of that consistent group of morbid Miners that wandered around the dance floor Saturday. You couldn't see the gal, cause she was in the middle, taking at least three steps with each.

You really should drop out to the Oasis one of these nights and watch Wisconsin Wink and wiggling wonders put on their floor show. Those gals have been reading too many Arthur Murray books and trying to put them in effect mixed up with an Irish Jiz. To watch 'em is part of every college man's eddication. Of greatest value to ethnologists.

Most morbid show of the year was the Rollamo's Underground. We had to pay to get in, then get mad enough watching that propaganda to want to get in to something we'll be paying for for years. Clever little scheme of Uncle Sammies'. Best propaganda built up since the last war to save democracy.

We're tossing our one weekly compliment to Coach Gale Ballman for his talk Friday. And his team. Believe he's done a better job than last year. Anyway, we'll find it out in St. L. Let's get behind him, men . . . and give him that hundred-Miner-cheering-squad.

We want to ring that bell Friday night.
Wotinell's this PALMERADE that appears suddenly in our yaller sheet. From the proofs of an article to appear elsewhere in this issue, we believe it be either a new peasant clog-dance . . . or a scheme to hook the frosh into drinking. Brackett, advertising is supposed to peddle for fifty cents an inch. We're losing money!

A woman approached the pearily gates and spoke to St. Peter: "Do you know if my husband is here? His name is Smith!"
"Lady, we have lots of them here, you'll have to be more specific."

"Joe Smith."
"Lotsa those too, you'll have to have more identification."
"Well, when he died he said that if I was ever untrue to him, he'd turn over in his grave."
"Oh, you mean 'Pinwheel Smith!'"

Miners Outclass Arkansas State 46-0 In Season's First Game

Coach Bullman's charges washed out the Arkansas State Indians last Saturday, by a score of 46 to 0. During the first five minutes of play, things happened so fast for the State lads that they were unable to collect their playing ability throughout the remaining fifty-five minutes of play.

Nick Mushovic opened the game by kicking deep into Indian territory. Kromka drove a hard tackle into Meredith's tenderloin, and play was resumed on the Indian's thirty-five yard line. Several attempts were made for ground gainers, and the Indians were forced to punt out. The Engineers drove deep into the Arkansas danger zone on the first play, with Fullop packing the mail. A spinner play from Fullop to Miller, and a lateral from Miller to Cook ended in a first score around the Indians' right flank. The Indians chose to receive, and after several line plays, passed deep into Miner territory with Fullop intercepting and galloping sixty-five yards for a second counter. Fullop counted again on several line plays, and Krueger made his placement. The latter part of the first quarter was played back and forth, neither team threatening until seconds before the fifteen minute period ended, when Tommy Pirce ripped off an end run and crossed the double stripe standing up.

Jim Stover Scores in Second Quarter

Jim Stover, a freshman back, gave a good account of himself throughout the second half by ripping off a number of nice long runs, and finally adding a tally to the Miner score. There were a number of freshmen in the game throughout the second quarter, and several of them showed promise of making good varsity material for the present season. Stubby Krueger added a point to his credit by converting after Stover's score, and the half ended with a 32 to 0 blackout.

Reserves Take Over During Second Half

Both teams substituted at random throughout the second half, perhaps a little more freely on the Engineers' side, as Arkansas reserve strength was very limited. However the Miners put a number of promising young men on the field, and a number of them should get a good taste of varsity action during the season. Don Wyman, Jack Boetger, Mitchell, and Stover gave good accounts of their ability during the half, with Mitchell and Boetger driving over touchdowns.

Arkansas Displays Good Spirit

The Indians, although smashed and battered from one end of the field to the other, never let up throughout the whole game. They passed from every position and every point on the football field, completing some, having some intercepted, and throwing a number of them wildly into the Miner backfield. Their line thrusts were weak but never-the-less they came back time after time trying to break through the Miner line.

Game Crumbs

Captain Kromka has truly won himself into the hearts of the fans, with his ever-ready fighting spirit on the field. It never matters whether the score is with

Stevens Says

By C. M. Stevens

Well, I'm back again with my line of tripe; so grab a ringside seat and listen to my story. It started way back when, Guys, when Men were Upper-classmen or against the Miners, Kromka always gives his best. For this reason, Ed, the MINER wishes to take this short space to spur you and your team mates to ever greater victories than the one over Arkansas.

Paul Fullop showed his true form during his short stay in the Indian fray; God help the St. Louis U. boys when they bust into this 170 pound gridiron demon. It truly sounds like old times to hear a quarter back call signals in a deep Southern drawl, Jonsie must have dated a South St. Louis girl rather steady during his high school days in the smoky city.

Cook looked mighty good on his first score of the season; another lad who will give St. Louis U. a lot of trouble as a hard blocking back.

Kiburz seems to have the centering job and line backing play well in hand and after a crack at plugging holes in the center of the line, he proved to be in good form.

Carafiol, a freshman product, is a sure bet for the varsity string after his excellent showing in one of the guard slots last Saturday.

Gene Veale protected the other side of the center during the first few minutes of the game with the ability of a veteran. Krueger gave a good account of himself throughout the whole game; remember fellows, he booted all of the placements. Hammann and Mushovic tied in the flank plays, and erased some of that troubled look Coach Bullman has had throughout the past weeks. A number of other old timers, or should I say upper-classmen and varsity members added strength to the forward wall and backfield, displaying a lot of power in the reserve section.

and freshmen were seen once in a while, but certainly never heard tell of talking back to a respectable upper-classman. Yes, you guessed it Miners, the days when the Engineers used to smash St. Louis U. to a pulp. Ever since those good old days, we kinda hold a gripe against those city fellows and save our best to pour forth our reputable glory at them during a bang-up football session. Well, that time has rolled around once more, and a lot of us will see the Miners in action against St. Louis for the last time as a college student. It's a game we all look forward to seeing, as the Engineers are cocked and primed to break forth in a sixty minute hair raising lotta whoopy to cheer a swell football team to victory over these city dudes. So, you guys break away from those oil burning parties and come on up to the Smoky City and beat your lungs out for the Engineers.

The Student Council has gone to the trouble to get a special train which will take us in to the city; so get your name in the box for a seat on the special, and I can assure you that your good time will start the minute you get aboard. The round trip will set each and everyone of us back the sum of two dollars and thirty cents, with a special guarantee of ten dollars worth of fun on the way up.

Along the same lines, if we win, don't try to take the goal posts, unless you can take a couple of coppers with it. Believe me fellows we tried it last year, and things looked mighty dark when we finally sneaked back into the stands with no goal posts.

See you at the St. Louis U. game fellows.

Books Ordered From Europe Make Extensive Tour

The speed of transporting such things as books around the world has increased immeasurably since the day of Magellan. With our modern resources the length of time required to ship books from Nurnburg, Germany to Rolla, Missouri is infinitesimally short.

In August 1940, books for the Missouri School of Mines library were ordered through our agent, G. E. Strehert and Co. Since that time, (unfortunately for the stamp collectors we can't certify this with stamps since they were destroyed when the books were repacked) the books have traveled along well known routes to Rolla. From Nurnburg, Germany, the books started their happy journey to the Danube River by railroad. Down the Danube they were again started on their where, at the port Constanta, Rumania, they were shipped to Italy by way of the Black Sea, just in time to miss the last boat to America. After a short rest, they were again started on their journey and this time sent to Bern, Switzerland from where they wandered, we know not how, to Moscow, Russia. At Moscow the books patiently waited for the next trans-Siberian train to come along.

On their journey the books traveled through Tula, Samara, Slonost, Tschelpabinsk, Koorgan, Petropavlovsk, Omsk, Kainsk, Nikolaievsk, Taiga Marunsk, Atchinsk, Irkutsk, Verkh-Udinsk, and Blagoveshchensk, to Vladivostok. They traveled through Japan across the Pacific Ocean to Vancouver, B. C., to New York whence to Rolla, Missouri.

who can kick with the best of the Billikens. Bob Osterholt, who became the sophomore standout of the year at end, is expected to divide his time at that position and at halfback.

Probable starters in the line include five veterans and two sophomores with Ellard Dernoncourt and Tony Wagner at end; "Big John" Gurczenski, 215-pound sophomore, and Carl Zimmer, 205-pound veteran at tackle; Jack Leiweke, a sophomore, and Jim Donohoo at guard, and Dick Patton at center.

Hardworking newcomers to the varsity squad who expect to change this lineup before the opening game with Missouri School of Mines on Sept. 26, with their weights, include: Ends—Frank Amelung, 200, Roland Otto, 190, Joe Kelly 180, and Harry Sortal 185; tackles—Glen "Tiny" Hunter, 240, Bill Bandle, 201, and Bill Kessler 292; guards—Lee Otter, 210; Vern Kenny, 185, Tom Venker, 185, and Joe DiFebo, 198 a junior college transfer; center—Tob Beck, 195.

The Ritz Theatre will give a free show to the Miners and their dates at 11:15 Thursday night.

Frosh Fling Marked By New Band Leader And Out-of-Town Dates

The dancing season was formally opened Saturday night with the St. Pat Board's presentation of the "Frosh" Fling. This followed in the path of most Miner dances in that it was a fast-cutting jumping-jive affair.

Under their new leader, Eric Casey, the Varsity Orchestra blasted loud and long, the only complaint being that there was too much jumping-jive and not enough sweet and slow. Aside from Freshmen, the dance was well attended, and the influx of out of town dates was quite noticeable, much to the delight of the stags.

Professor and Mrs. Guest, Capt. and Mrs. H. B. Moreland, and Doctor and Mrs. T. G. Day were faculty members present.

The trouble with a boom is that it often ends with a bang.

PEP RALLY

There will be a pep meeting at 10:30 tomorrow night on the athletic field. Everybody be present! Frosh roll will be called!

A young man and lady were planning on getting married. She was concentrating on her trousers. He was concentrating on her torso. That's how her trousers got torso.

staff elections be disposed of and give everyone in school a chance for elections to the board and to the staff.

How to do it? Let the Student Council call a mass meeting of the student body and have a vote for a nullification of the present "spoils system". Lets vote for a NEW ORDER.
